

Pop Up Card in a Box Class
Heather Heroldt

For the portrait orientation, cut cardstock to 5 1/2" x 9 1/4". Score on the long edge at 2 1/8", 4 1/4", 6 3/8" and 8 1/2". Rotate the cardstock a quarter turn and score again at 2 1/2" on the short edge. Rotating the CS back to horizontal, cut down the 2 1/2" sections to the horizontal. On the narrowest section, cut off at a downward angle to form a tab for gluing.

Next, cut 2 – 1" x 3 5/8" strips of matching CS. Score at each sort end 3/4" in. You can also cut a 2" x 3 5/8" block, score on the long edge at 3/4" and 2 7/8", then cut in half lengthwise. The strips are a good use for your leftover CS from cutting the base.

For the landscape orientation (pictured below), cut your card base to 4 1/4" x 12". Score along the long edge at 2 3/4", 5 1/2", 8 1/4" and 11". Rotate a quarter turn and score again at 2". Rotating the CS back to horizontal, cut 2" slits along your first scorelines, to the horizontal score you just made. Angle the narrowest section downward again to form a tab, as shown below. Cut 2 strips at 1" x 4 3/4", and score each strip at 1" and 3 3/4".

Next cut your DSP. For the portrait card, you will need 2 long sections at 2" x 5 3/8", one in DSP and one in white or other coordinating color. For your lower (outside) sections, you need 3 pieces at 2" x 2 7/8". For the upper (inside) sections, you need 3 pieces at 2" x 2 3/8" for the inside, that match the long piece, and you can do 3 more in that size to decorate the outside if you wish, in yet another pattern. However, these won't be visible when the card is on display, only when the card is flat.

For the landscape card, you need two long sections at 2 1/2" x 4", one in DSP and one in white. You need 3 coordinating lower (outside) sections at 2 1/2" x 2", and at least 3 upper (inside) sections at 2 1/2" x 1 3/4" that match the long piece. You can again cut three more upper sections for under the flaps if you wish.

To assemble, adhere the long piece closest to the tab, and then arrange the upper "inside" papers as shown. Flip the base over and adhere the long (white) CS again closest to the tab, and arrange the lower (outside) pieces as shown. If tying ribbon around finished box base, make sure to adhere under the white cs before gluing down. If using the extra coordinating upper pieces, adhere those now, too.

Next, flip base back over, fold in tab, and apply adhesive. Fold card in half to adhere to tab and form a "box."

Burnish creases sharply to adhere glue well. Refold in order to crease other two corners sharply. Fold down flaps, and crease those sharply, too. Next, insert the strips: bend back the end tabs, and adhere inside box, aligning at upper edge. Face the strips' tabs away from each other inside the box to achieve the spacing needed for decoration. Finish decorating as desired!
